Google Classroom

The COVID-19 pandemic, among many sectors, also adversely affected the education sector. It forced closing down universities, schools, and colleges due to the fear of spreading the virus even more and forced educators as well as students to search for alternatives in order to keep learning against the odds. Among the alternatives was online education. One of the applications that made this enormous transition possible was Google Classroom which provided the features and functionality of an offline classroom's experience to the best possible extent.
